1. Attention is called to the irritable tone of attached message from the London wire room. Such discourtesy displayed toward another FBIB communications office, while unpleasant, is of less moment than if directed outside the Branch. It is suspected that such messages directed to UEP may have contributed to a feeling of ill-will between UEP and UFPBK which it is of importance to FBIB to avoid.

2. It is desired that all trick chiefs and other communications personnel who may initiate service messages be cautioned in this respect.
